400 American Planes Bomb Palermo, Sicily

Heaviest Raid Of War Smashes Italian Plants

Fiat Factory Damaged; Other War Industries Attacked

Tremendous Fires Set in Important Manufacturing Center

By EDWARD KENEDY

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS in North Africa, May 9 (P)—The United States air force struck at Palermo, Sicily, today with more than 400 planes—the heaviest raid ever launched from Africa and one of the biggest daylight attacks of the war—dropping a weight of bombs five times greater than on any previous Mediterranean raid.

The attack was exclusively an American operation.

Pilots said the damage was stupendous.

The huge aerial armada dealt Palermo, a fierce blow, but it was only a shadow of events to come.

Smoke Obscures City

So great was the destruction and chaos at Palermo, Europe's southern gateway, that reconnaissance planes could not see the city nor the harbor through the smoke. A square mile of Palermo next to the harbor in which docks and war factories are concentrated was the target, and it was certainly wiped out, returning pilots said.

They said that tremendous fires could be seen for fifty miles away. The heavy four-engined bombers attacked at noon, and the medium bombers a half hour later.

Bomb Fiat Factory

Among objectives were shipyards, the Fiat factory, iron and steel works, the arsenal and the chemical plant—which have been turning out implements of war for the Axis.

The two biggest previous raids from Africa were 100 bomber attacks upon Naples and Cagliari.

Americans Bomb Enemy in China

WITH THE AMERICAN AIR FORCE IN CHINA May 8 (P)—(Delayed) (P)—Heavy and medium bombers of the United States Fourteenth Air Force in a raid today on Canton devastated the biggest Japanese air base south of Hanoi, and accompanying 9-40's shot down thirteen Japanese fighters and probably five others.

The big attack followed up the highly successful bombing of Hainan Island and Haiphong in French Indo-China four days ago, and was Maj. Gen. Claire L. Chennault's counter to the Japanese attempt to oust the American air force from China.

Forty tons of bombs crashed down on the great Tien Ho air base which is the assembly place for planes sent to Burma and Japanese bases in the South Pacific, as well as the finishing ground for combat crews.

Three Jap Destroyers and Four Bases Bombed by American Fliers

By HAMILTON W. FARON
WASHINGTON, May 9 (P)—Heavy bombing raids throughout the Solomon Islands area battered three Japanese destroyers and four enemy bases, the navy reported today. One destroyer suffered a direct hit.

Dive-bombers, torpedo bombers, heavy bombing planes, fighters, all joined in the widespread assaults which hit shipping and shore installations Saturday, Solomons time.

The Dauntless dive-bombers plummeted bombs on a flotilla of Japanese destroyers surprised in the waters off Gizo Island in the New Georgia group of the Central Solomons, one big 1,000-pound bomb was observed to hit directly on a destroyer. The extent of damage was not reported, but such a hit could cripple a destroyer.

"Several Near Hits"

Other half-ton bombs struck in the water near two other destroyers, resulting in "several near hits."

CAPTURE OF BIZERTE DESCRIBED BY ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORTER

Harold V. Boyle Tells Story of American Doughboy Attack on German Snipers in City

By HAROLD V. BOYLE
BIZERTE, TUNISIA, May 8—(Delayed)—Eerie forms flitted through this ghost town today as American doughboys fought German snipers in the ruined streets of Bizerte.

With medium artillery shells fired by Nazi "suicide" gun crews from across the channel of Lake Bizerte falling intermittently in this bomb-shattered Mediterranean seaport base, squads of combat engineers late in the day began house-to-house fighting to find and kill a score or more German death-watch rearguard soldiers still hiding in the debris and picking off the unwary walkers.

Machinegun entrenchments in the town itself and other enemy twenty millimeter cannon and machinegun nests across the narrow channel made passage along the roadway entering Bizerte perilous to every vehicle.

Motorcyclist Wounded
One motorcyclist was sent spinning from his vehicle at the edge of town. The wounded rider was taken to a hospital by a jeep driver who risked death to rescue him. One could not walk unaided by the buildings along the waterfront without drawing the fire of the concealed, sniping foe.

The fire became so hot last night that the American tank and reconnaissance column which took the town by storm at 4:15 p. m. yesterday with only minor opposition withdrew about 9 p. m. for overnight bivouac, then reentered Bizerte this morning and began rushing the machinegun nests.

At 2:15 p. m. an explosion across the channel on a peninsula southeast of the city shook the area with a dull blast heard for miles and a great column of brilliant red fire and black smoke spiraled skyward. "They have just blown up the power plant for Bizerte and the whole countryside with an electric mine," said a French maritime engineer who had taken a group of correspondents for a tour of the area.

Small Island Attacked
The attack on Fairo was the first reported on that small island north of Shortland Island and about 280 miles from the American airbase on Guadalcanal. Naval spokesmen were unable to provide any details on the type of enemy installations there.

Results of the attacks of Kahili and Ballale Island, each bombed many times in the continual air raids throughout the Solomons, were not reported, nor did the navy have any details of a raid carried out by Avenger torpedo bombers and Corsair fighters which again bombed and strafed Munda in the New Georgia group.

930 Axis Planes Smashed by Reds In Week's Drive

Moscow Reports Successful Start of Summer Campaign

German Key Rail Junctions and Bases Heavily Bombed

LONDON, Monday, May 10—(P)—The Russian air force, bolstered by American-made planes, has destroyed or damaged 930 German planes in a week as the prelude to decisive summer land campaigns, Moscow disclosed early today, and the Red army of the Caucasus smashed furious German counterattacks near threatened Novorossisk.

A midnight communiqué telling of the rising aerial might of the Russians said the Red air force lost 235 aircraft in the week ending Saturday.

A short time later a special bulletin also recorded by the Soviet Monitor disclosed that the Russian airmen on Saturday had effectively blasted eight or more key German rail junctions and bases on the central and southern fronts, destroying seventy-five Axis planes at a cost of twenty-one Russian aircraft—better than a three-to-one triumph.

Wreck German Trains
German railway stations, installations and supplies were smashed at Bryansk, Poltava, Kiovo, Belgorod and many other points in the sweeping Saturday attacks which also wrecked many precious Axis reserves of freight and locomotive rolling stock all the way from the Ukraine to the Vitebsk area near the Latvian border.

This increasing aerial onslaught appeared to be linked closely with American and British moves in the west. In the Caucasian fight the Russian forces also were operating in the Black Sea and Sea of Azov where the midnight communiqué disclosed that ten more Axis ships, presumably trying to ferry reinforcements to the battered German garrisons, were sunk.

Nazi Attacks Repulsed
"The Germans attempted in vigorous counter-attacks to recover their lost positions," said the communiqué recorded by the Soviet Monitor. In this fighting within nine miles of Novorossisk, the bulletin added, "our troops repelled all the enemy attacks and inflicted considerable losses on him."

The Soviet noon communiqué yesterday told of the sinking of one German transport in the Black Sea, and the latest bulletin announced the destruction of a troop transport in the same area, presumably in the same area, (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

J. Wes Gallagher Injured in Crash

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS in NORTH AFRICA, May 9 (P)—J. Wes Gallagher, Associated Press war correspondent, was injured yesterday when a jeep in which he was riding overturned near newly-captured Bizerte.

Pinned beneath the vehicle, Gallagher suffered a back injury and cuts on his head and hands. He was sent to a hospital where his condition was described as not serious.

George Silent on Veto
George would not comment on the possibility of a presidential veto for any measure which approximates the Ruml plan to skip a year's tax, but said:

"If such a bill is passed and becomes law, it is almost certain to be followed by a demand for an increase in taxes to make up the amount that would be lost through abatement."

The Senate committee bill would put about ninety-seven per cent of all taxpayers on a current basis immediately, providing approximately 100 per cent abatement. The bill approved by the House, after its rejection of a modified Ruml plan, provides abatement for all those in the first surtax bracket—about ninety per cent of taxpayers.

Armed Forces Preparing for Any Eventuality; Army Is Strong

By EDWIN SHANKE
STOCKHOLM, May 9 (P)—Sweden's armed forces appear primed and ready for any eventuality as the war swirls around her borders.

During recent visits with the army, navy and air force, I found every man energetically and enthusiastically concentrating on the job of being prepared. At the bottom of Sweden's defense plans is the recognition that she cannot depend on superiority of numbers, but only on the highest possible quality in men and the tools of war.

Foreign minister Christian Guenther emphasized in a speech May 1 the state of Sweden's preparedness when he declared that a neutral, the same as a belligerent, "must arm to the teeth and be prepared to defend its position with tooth and nail."

Way Cleared for Attack
The collapse of the Axis in Tunisia has given added point to the feverish preparations in Sweden. It has focused the war back on the (Continued on Page 2, Col. 1)

Ohio Miners Vote To Resume Work

BELLAIRE, O., May 9 (P)—Coal diggers who quit at two of Ohio's largest mines in protest against work stoppages fines voted today to return to the pits. William Kennedy, United Mine Workers organizer, reported.

Kennedy said work would be resumed at Hanna Coal Co.'s Willow Grove mine in nearby Neffs at midnight. The mechanized shaft employing about 600 men has been idle since Friday.

Ray Wheeler, secretary of the UMW local at the Bell and River Coal Company's No. 6 mine, said a similar number of men would begin returning there tomorrow morning.

Giraud Predicts Defeat of Hitler, But Warns Contest May Be Lengthy

ALGIERS, May 9 (P)—Gen. Henri Giraud told his French homeland tonight that "tomorrow the European fortress will be attacked" in a struggle which he said would be "hard and perhaps long."

"Wait until we are all ready to strike together," said the French leader who a week ago predicted that Tunisia would be liberated by the Allies this month. Broadcasting to the "soldiers hidden in chateaus and cottages" in France, Giraud said:

"Six months to the day after the debarkation of our Allies on African soil, on this anniversary of the celebration of Joan of Arc, Tunis and Bizerte have fallen together—I don't dare to say almost miraculously."

"In a few days there will be no more Germans in Africa. The dream of world domination begins to crumble."

"Tomorrow (soon) the European fortress will be attacked. It is necessary for close co-ordinated efforts to shake and dislocate the formidable German war machine."

"It will still be hard and perhaps long. Don't be impatient. Don't give pretexts for savage and bloody repression."

"Wait until we are all ready to strike together."

BOCHE TROOPS BEING MOVED SOUTHWARD THROUGH HUNGARY

Hitler Apparently Preparing for Invasion of Italy by Americans at Early Date

By FRANK J. O'BRIEN

ANKARA, May 7 (Delayed) (P)—German troops are being moved southward through Hungary at a rate comparable to that which preceded the Axis attack on Greece and Yugoslavia, travelers arriving in Turkey from Europe reported today.

(Dispatches reaching Stockholm from Berlin Sunday said Germany was sending modern weapons to bolster Bulgarian defenses as the threat of a Balkan invasion mounted with Allied victories in North Africa.

(The Berlin correspondent of the Stockholm newspaper Tidningen said it was also reported the Bulgarians were heavily fortifying their Black Sea coast since a warning by German Lieut. Gen. Dietmar that the British Tenth army was massing on the island of Cyprus, in the Eastern Mediterranean.)

Bucharest Digging In
German authorities have ordered Rumanians to dig deep air raid shelters against the possibility of Allied raids on Bucharest and other Rumanian cities, the travelers reported.

From other reliable sources came reports that the Italian government had ordered the evacuation of the civilian population of Rhodes, Axis base in the Mediterranean, and that the Italians were feverishly strengthening their defenses on the Dodecanese Islands.

200,000 Homeless in Berlin
Arriving travelers reported that 200,000 residents of Berlin are homeless as a result of Allied air raids and government agencies are finding the greatest difficulty providing new lodgings for those who have been bombed out.

Gestapo surveillance has failed to prevent residents of the Nazi capital from complaining that "after losing (Continued on Page 2, Col. 2)

Subsidy for Processors
Under the plan, the retail prices of five items of meat and coffee and butter would be rolled back on an average of ten per cent, with the RFC granting subsidies to processors, if necessary, designed to free them from a price squeeze between producers and consumers. The figure suggested for the subsidy was $300,000,000. Of this, Meany said:

"Ninety-six billion, 141 million dollars per year for war production, and now we find that our administration officials, by straining themselves, can appropriate $300,000,000 to help solve the food problem of America's production army. Peanuts!"

Some Congress members, however, evidently did not reflect this "peanuts" view of Meany. Chairman Cannon (D-Mo) of the House Appropriations committee said such a program would "harm rather than help" matters and that he believed Congress should prohibit the RFC from making such subsidy payments. Rep. Taber (R-NY) a committee member, said:

Heavy Fighting Continues Near City of Tunis

Americans Complete "Mopping Up" of Axis Forces in Bizerte

Several High-Ranking German Officers Captured by Yanks

By WILLIAM B. KING

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS in NORTH AFRICA, May 9 (P)—Axis forces in Tunisia, short of air protection, were collapsing today under Allied blows by land, sea and air, and 50,000 enemy troops including four division commanders have been captured since last Friday alone, two special communiqués announced late today.

The Allied air force meanwhile staged its greatest raid from Africa, sending 400 planes to blast at docks and industries in Palermo, Sicily, American planes dropped five times the weight of bombs ever tossed on any previous Mediterranean raid, and damage, pilots said, was stupendous.

By contrast, headquarters said the German air force apparently had abandoned Tunisia.

Complete Mopping Up

A special war bulletin announced the Americans had "completed mopping up in the area around Bizerte, where organized resistance has ceased," and added that "three German divisional commanders and their staffs have been captured."

The commander and remnants of the fifteenth Panzer division—one of the two famous armored divisions of the Africa Corps—surrendered to the crack British Seventh armored division, which, as part of the Eighth army, has been fighting the Africa Corps since its arrival on this continent.

The Axis made no attempt at evacuation. Its soldiers were ordered to stay and fight it out. They stayed—and surrendered under the terrific blows of the Allied North African armies.

Germans Astonished

Pittsburgh Mine Strike Called Off

PITTSBURGH, May 9 (P)—More than 3,000 coal miners who went on strike in Ohio and Pennsylvania in protest against $1-a-day fines for unauthorized work stoppages today had either gone back to work or had voted to do so.

Earl Edwards, superintendent of the Shamokin mine of the Jones & Laughlin Steel Corporation at Bobtown, Pa., said tonight he had been informed by a United Mine Workers committee that 500 men there had agreed to return to the pits with the 7 a. m. shift tomorrow.

He said Stanley Perence, president of the mine local, had told him "the importance of getting back on the job overruled any arguments over the $1-a-day fines."

Legion Commander Seeks To Oust Post for Support of John Lewis

MEMPHIS, May 9 (P)—The national commander of the American Legion today asked the Pennsylvania Legion commander "to make an immediate investigation" of a resolution by "a Pennsylvania post, number 673," suggesting its members might be "unworthy to remain members of the American Legion."

Roabe Waring's telegram to Daniel C. Harbauer of Pittsburgh was, it said, an aftermath of a resolution passed by the post, criticizing recent speeches of the national commander. The telegram quoted the resolution:

"We apologize to Mr. (John L.) Lewis and to the nation for our part in placing Roabe Waring in office. It has been with mixed emotions of shame and disgust that we have witnessed this attack by Commander Waring on a man who has been the leader of labor's cause for twenty-six years."

Waring's telegram, as released to the press by his aide, Joe Lumpkin, said that "if upon investigation it is found that the membership of

Raid on Palermo Seen as Prelude To an Invasion

Italians Given Sample of What To Expect in Near Future

By CARL C. CRANMER

The clouds of Palermo—400 of them—which French Premier Reynaud pleaded for in 1940 rose from Africa Sunday and struck a thunderous blow at Palermo, Sicily, strongly indicating that the invasion of Mussolini's land of "9,000,000 bayonets" and perhaps other parts of Hitler's European hedgehog is imminent.

It seems most unlikely that the Allies would have waited until after the fall of Tunis and Bizerte to make their greatest aerial assault if their purpose was to stop a flow of supplies or reinforcements to Africa.

"Softening Up" Starts

The Palermo raid and the 100-plane attack on Pantelleria on Saturday definitely look like the "softening up" perhaps the beginning of the end of that process.

Allied announcements that the Axis air force has quit the fight in Tunisia make it plain that the Germans and Italians no longer are interested in expending strength on an African bridgehead which no longer can be called a bridgehead.

Few if any Italian rearwards showed inclination to try the prescription for "African sickness" that was suggested on Wednesday by Mussolini in his balcony-rattling speech: i. e., to return to Africa. They have had enough of Africa.

No Evacuation Likely

On the other hand the statement by Allied naval headquarters that there is no sign as yet of an attempt at wholesale evacuation of the German and Italian forces makes it unlikely that the Palermo raid was for the purpose of sending a Dunkerque fleet to the bottom.

The Allied announcement that 50,000 prisoners have been taken in Tunisia, including three German divisional commanders and their staff and the remnants of the Fifteenth German armored division, makes it plain that the Africa Corps has been virtually destroyed.

This is a victory already exceeding that at El Alamein in Egypt, when 30,000 of the enemy were captured and 45,000 killed or wounded.

Republicans May Curb Roosevelt

Plan To Reduce President's Authority on Trade Agreements

WASHINGTON, May 9 (P)—Republicans in the House tonight claimed sufficient strength to reduce the president's authority to negotiate reciprocal trade agreements, while administration leaders spoke out against "crippling" amendments.

The trade authority, under which the president can cut tariffs to nations granting mutual concessions to the United States, is before Congress for a three-year renewal. The House starts general debate tomorrow.

Republicans expressed belief enough Democrats would join them to pass at least two, and possibly three amendments. These would:

1. Give Congress the right to pass upon any trade treaties within ninety days of their submission.
2. Grant American producers the right to litigate matters arising out of the trade treaties.
3. Provide that no reduction be made in the duty on any foreign agricultural product when the domestic price of the comparable product is less than parity.

Sweden Getting

continent of Europe and cleared the way for an Allied attack upon Hitler's "fortress" in which Scandinavia conceivably might figure.

Swedish military commentators generally expressed surprise at the swiftness with which the final phase of the African campaign was being concluded. They described it as a "full victory for superiority of fire power."

At the Rosersberg Infantry School near Stockholm infantrymen showed a sample of Sweden's firing power during a drill in which light, medium and heavy mortars, automatic weapons and the new Bofors, a combined anti-aircraft and anti-tank gun, blazed away.

The marksmanship of the Swedes was an eye opener as they peppered targets concealed in the rolling boulder strewn and wooded terrain on which Sweden is relying heavily in her defense plans.

At the Rosersberg school husky recruits are turned into finished soldiers in a year's time, after which they are given six months of service on the borders. As though to drive home the reason for military service, a copy of the declaration of independence of the United States hangs on the walls of Rosersberg castle, the school's headquarters.

All men between the ages of 20 and 47 are liable for service. After these have received basic training they frequently are called back for brief refresher courses with new weapons. Thus Sweden's army is kept up to the minute.

Capture of Bizerte

Sidi Ahmed airfield, where battered hangars and more than fifty wrecked Nazi fighter and bomber planes showed the toll exacted by concentrated Allied raids.

"They now are firing from across the channel with a forty millimeter gun at everything that moves down cross streets in Bizerte," an American division officer said.

Correspondents Enter Bizerte

Following the advice of a reconnaissance officer to "be ready to duck out of that jeep at the first pop," a group of correspondents rode along the last two miles of exposed roadway into Bizerte without drawing a single bullet from across the channel, littered with sunken ships and blazing barges set afire by sabotage or shellfire.

Beyond the gate at the edge of the city, Lieut. Charles Langston of Kansas City, Mo., was resting the first unit of combat engineers to clean the snipers from part of the town.

"You can go up about three blocks but there are snipers beyond there," said the stocky officer who pitched for the Kansas City Blues in the 1936 American Association baseball season. "We have gone through a half-mile square section. One Italian soldier got away. There are at least twenty to fifty snipers left."

"These guys know they are licked. They are just a crazy suicide bunch. We go in every house covered by our area and check for mines and booby traps as well as snipers but they didn't do much booby trapping, probably because they knew the French could see what they were doing."

Engineers Advance

A fresh unit of combat engineers moved cautiously forward in a double row well spaced to take up the search where Langston's weary men left off. Distant machineguns set up a staccato clamor and the doughboys looked at each other like nervous horses before the start of a race.

At one intersection of the Boulevard de Republique hell itself seemed to break loose. Two hours before a merry group of French civilians and correspondents had toasted each other in wine there and had sung "It's a Long Long Way to Tipperary" and other songs. Now the cafe was closed, its windows shattered, and shells were breaking overhead along that eerie avenue of debris where nothing sounded except the crash, bang and thud of shellfire and the chatter of small arms.

A Sherman tank nearby opened up with seventy-seven millimeter gun, adding its sharp crack to the heavy, deafening din. A dismounted tankman—Sgt. Samuel Allen of Hudson, O., who was with the first group of tanks to enter the town the day before—ran up and asked, "Is there an infantry officer here?"

Corner Machine Gunners

"We have a house full of machineguns cornered down there by the waterfront," he said. "They just hit an infantry officer as he came around a corner and wounded him in the leg."

"We moved over and covered him with our tank while he crawled on back of it. Then we backed 100 yards right out of that street and got behind a wall, shooting all the time at the house with a thirty caliber gun. We could open up with our seventy-five's and blow the place to pieces but we're under orders not to use them for fear that in the small area we might hurt some of our own men."

Among the engineer infantrymen sweating out the bombardment in this hot corner of Bizerte was Private Boss Wilson of Briceville, Tenn.

Among the tankmen who saw action in this battle within the city were Private Thomas R. Lynch of East Liverpool, O.; Sgt. Kermit Kinney of Bethesda, O.; and Corp. Frank A. Githens, Dayton.

mittie member, contended that to roll back prices would increase purchasing power and would be "the most inflationary thing they could do."

Labor Backs Program

While there was individual criticism of the scope of the program, labor organizations were represented as standing firmly behind the general idea of cutting back costs.

A statement by the labor policy committee of OPA, made up of representatives of the AFL, CIO and standard railroad labor unions, said:

"Labor will do all in its power, through its local, state and national organizations, to help effect the new OPA price control program insofar as it represents a genuine rollback in the cost of living. Labor was ready to share in the enforcement of effective cost-of-living stabilization a year ago; it is ready to join any bona fide effort to achieve such stabilization now."

Meanwhile, the OPA installed its community-wide grocery price list system in about 130 metropolitan areas. Storekeepers and housewives will get from their local newspapers price lists showing the legal ceilings for common grocery items.

our businesses and our sons, now we must lose our homes," these sources reported. The Gestapo was said to have made numerous arrests recently for defection.

(The Office of War Information at Washington said yesterday that aid raids on Stettin and Mannerheim, in Northern and Western Germany, had necessitated special aid attack precautions by the Germans.)

Price Violations In Coal Fields Reported by OPA

But Average over Ceilings Is Declared Only Five per Cent

WASHINGTON, May 9 (P)—"Substantial violations" of maximum price regulations by retail stores in the coal fields were reported today by OPA, but it said their prices are "not out of line" with those in comparable nearby communities. The average excess over ceilings was estimated at five per cent.

The cost-of-living among miners is one of the principal issues raised by the United Mine Workers in their efforts to obtain pay increases. John L. Lewis, UMW president, has asserted the prices are out of control, while Price Administrator Prentiss M. Brown contended living costs have not outstripped wage increases.

Mining Towns' Prices Highest

Today's OPA report was based on a survey in 230 mining towns. Thomas I. Emerson, associate counsel for the OPA, said West Virginia and Pennsylvania the biggest coal producing states, showed the highest percentage of price violations. Kentucky the lowest. Other states checked were Illinois, Indiana and Alabama. Between April 27 and May 1 220 OPA investigators visited 475 food stores, including 100 establishments operated by mining companies and sixty-five chain stores.

"Follow-up enforcement action is being taken against substantial violators to the extent of available manpower," Emerson said. "No effort was made to check the increase in prices in comparison with past periods. The survey was limited to a study of compliance with prices permitted by existing regulations and a comparison with current prices in non-mining areas."

Prices Up Five Per Cent

"There was no evidence that food commodities were selling at extravagantly high percentages above ceiling prices. Although a precise estimate is impossible and although the degree of non-compliance varies greatly in different areas, it is perhaps fair to say that actual prices on the commodities checked, considering the sales below ceiling prices, averaged about five per cent above ceiling prices."

Although substantial price violations were found in some company stores, "no evidence was found that the company stores are worse in their performance than other stores," the report said. "In fact, the level of compliance in most of the company stores appears to be above that maintained in the independent stores."

"This conclusion must, of course, be qualified by the observation that there was no time in this necessarily rapid survey for checking such alleged company store practices as deduction from miners' pay checks of more than list prices for commodities purchased."

930 Axis Planes

sumably off Novorossisk, and also said that four enemy cutters and four motor launches went down with their crews in the Sea of Azov to the north.

Russians Drive Ahead

The Russians doggedly drove forward toward all objectives in the German bridgehead in the Kuban sector of the Western Caucasus exerting fresh pressure on the enemy in Novorossisk, and destroyed a battalion of infantry in capturing important positions in the Donets Basin near Lischansk, the Soviet communiqué said today.

Upwards of 1,500 Germans fell before Russian guns in the quickening battle while aerial combat heightened above the Kuban.

Dispatches said more than 560 German planes had been destroyed by the Russian air force in the last four days, many of them on airports behind the lines.

"The German communiqué said the Russians continued their thrusts in the Kuban despite high losses in men and tanks. A German counter-attack repulsed the Russians north of Lischansk and south of Orel, said the communiqué, broadcast from Berlin and recorded by the Associated Press. The Germans said seventy-two Soviet planes were destroyed yesterday at the cost of six and that Russian railways were being bombed day and night.

"Front of Attrition" (Transcend reported via the Berlin radio that five Russian armies and "two air armies" were attacking the Kuban bridgehead which it described as "a front of attrition.")

The report said the "bridgehead runs from the naval port of Novorossisk, which is in German hands, in a loop of about seventy-five miles to a lagoon area on the Sea of Azov."

The Germans hurried fresh reserves into the Kuban by highway and sea, but dispatches said these were receiving merciless pounding from Soviet Stornovik bombers while fighter planes were mowing down infantrymen in sudden swoops.

The Russians were preoccupied with German communications. A transport was sunk in the Black Sea and 200 trucks were destroyed or demobilized, a statement said.

If You've Had a Windfall in Last Year Uncle Sam Wants His Share

WASHINGTON, May 9 (P)—Have you had a windfall in income because of the war? If you have, Uncle Sam may be collecting some extra from you while he is exorcising a lot of people from the year's tax liabilities—if the Senate Finance committee's "Pay-as-you-go" tax bill becomes law.

The dictionary describes "windfall" as "an unexpected legacy or gain," and the tax experts have something like that in mind.

Let's take the case of a mythical war contract broker who made $2,500 in 1938 keeping books, $3,600 as an accountant in 1939 and $13,000 in 1940 when he began brokering some defense contracts.

Say this fellow made $110,000 in 1942 but drops in 1943 to $100,000.

How It Works Out In putting him on a current payment basis, the Senate bill would wipe out his 1943 liabilities, because it was smaller, and tax him at 1942 rates on his 1942 income. Then the windfall provision would go into operation and he would have to look up his net earnings for 1938, 1939 and 1940 and call one year his "normal" earning year.

This contract broker naturally would pick 1940, when he made $13,000. The Senate bill would have him add $10,000, bringing the amount up to $23,000. That would be considered his normal earning capacity.

You'll Need an Expert

Having obtained that figure, the broker would subtract it from $100,000, the income on which his taxes had been wiped out. That would leave $77,000 as his excess war earnings over what might be considered a normal year for him.

The—ouch—the tax on that $77,000 would be added to the tax he was liable for on the $110,000 of 1942 income and he would have to pay this excess over the next three years in addition to keeping up his current payments.

You don't get it? Don't worry too much about it. If you're in the windfall class you probably can afford to hire an expert to figure it out for you.

SS. PETER AND PAUL CHURCH DEDICATES SERVICE HONOR ROLL

The SS. Peter and Paul church honor roll, listing 250 names was dedicated yesterday morning preceding the 7 o'clock Mass, by the Rev. Father Edward Stoehr, O.P.M. Cap, spiritual director of the Holy Name Society, which sponsored the tablet. Father Edward also spoke on "Mothers of Service Men." The honor roll will be erected in the vestibule above the holy water font.

Mrs. William Stutcher, mother of Pvt. Carl Stutcher, the first member of the parish to be killed in action, unveiled the tablet.

Lieut. Leo H. Ley, Fort Benning, Ga., carried the American flag leading the procession into the church. His color guard were Staff Sgt. Charles E. Humbertson and Sgt. C. M. Elbin. Approximately 250 members of the society marched in the procession.

An American flag and a Papal flag were presented to the church by the Holy Name Society several weeks ago and are placed in the sanctuary of the church.

County Exceeds Quota In Second War Bond Campaign, Piper Says

According to Charles A. Piper, chairman of the War Finance Committee for Region No. 1, Allegany county has over-subscribed its quota of $2,240,000 in the Second War Loan drive, by over half a million dollars.

Keeping pace with the rest of the state, Cumberland people and citizens of all the rest of the town have done a splendid patriotic duty by exceeding the quota, Piper said. Complete figures are not yet available, but information is at hand to show the drive is well over the top, he added.

"This does not mean," the chairman suggested, "that people should stop buying War Bonds." Every dollar possible should be invested and a systematic plan of purchasing bonds and stamps should be followed by every wage earner, he suggested.

The American Legion post here is now conducting a War Bond selling campaign, to encourage the purchase of more Series E, F and G bonds.

soners and much material, including anti-tank guns, had been captured by French forces in a continued drive north and east of Pont du Faux.

Clear Tunis and Bizerte Blasting the last snipers out of Tunis and Bizerte, American and British troops rolled southward out of Bizerte, eastward from the Tine river and northward from Tunis to eliminate the "L" shaped pocket in northeastern Tunisia between the capital and the naval base.

British Tommies occupied the site of ancient Carthage, seven miles northeast of Tunis and took over La Goulette, the outer port of Tunis located on the tiny tongue of land between the sea and Tunis harbor.

The British Seventh armored division, which had fought its way with the Eighth army all the way from the Nile valley, moved northward out of Tunis to assist the Americans in leveling the northern pocket and took both Tebourba and Djedida, which had been by-passed in the British first army's mad dash to Tunis. Tebourba is 18 miles west of Tunis and Djedida is twelve miles west.

The Ninth division of the second United States Army Corps completed its occupation of Bizerte and the first American armored division pushed across the Bizerte canal, captured El Azib on the eastern end of Lake Bizerte and then rolled on to take El Alia, thirteen miles southeast of Bizerte.

The thirty-fourth American infantry division cleared the enemy from all high ground north of Chougui pass in closing in on the pocket from the west. On the whole second corps front at least 4,000 prisoners, mostly Germans, had been captured since the start of the final drive on Bizerte May 5.

All three of these forces, British and American, were overrunning trapped Germans and Italians in reverse "L" shaped pocket stretching from the eastern tip of Bizerte Bay southward to Lake El Mabtouha, westward to the Tine river four miles southeast of Mateur, southward about six miles and then eastward to the coast in the neighborhood of Sidi Bou Said, nine miles northeast of Tunis.

British armor which set out from Tunis in an attempt to stab across the entrance to Cap Bon peninsula met strong resistance at Hammam Lif, ten miles southeast of Tunis, where the shore curves northeastward to form the peninsula.

Young Sergeant Escapes Death In Plane Crash

Loran Walker of Sharptown Home after Thrilling Experiences

SHARPTOWN, Md., May 9 (P)—Sgt. Loran Walker of Sharptown is back in the United States after dodging Jap bullets in the foxholes of a small Pacific island, fighting in heavy jungles and escaping from a flaming plane.

The 22-year-old sergeant, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Harley Walker of Norfolk, Va., had been in Australia only three weeks when he left with a raiding party for an island between New Guinea and Australia.

The plane carrying the party burst into flames over the island. The pilot and copilot kept their position and died. The twenty-four soldiers bailed out and Walker was the twenty-fourth and last to leave the falling plane.

The tail of the plane struck him as he fell and he suffered head and body injuries but joined his unit on the ground. He fought in foxholes for six weeks against the Japs and then the army moved in.

The unit left for New Guinea, where it fought against the Japs in the jungles for a month.

Walker's condition grew worse from his injuries and he was flown to an Australian hospital, later embarking for the United States. He is now recuperating in Halloran hospital, Staten Island, New York.

sation were among the social welfare reforms that Eagles originated and sponsored. He declared that the Eagles also sought to give the homeless boy the best substitute for a home by donating a new dormitory to Father Flanagan's famed Boy's Town. The cost of the building and furnishings—$160,000—was paid for by voluntary contributions from Eagles.

"Wherever the ideals and the principles of Eaglesdom have been scrapped and destroyed as in the totalitarian countries, we have seen the downfall of the home as the unit of society—and the consequent downfall of civilization. Man-kind can only make genuine progress under the banner of liberty, truth, justice and equality—the ideals of our order," Schindler concluded.

C. William H. Baer, past state president of the Eagles, acted as master of ceremonies, and introduced the speaker.

"White Savage" Coming To Liberty Thursday

Maria Montez's record of having sized through six pictures without being kissed has been broken. In her current co-starring role with John Hall and Sabu in "White Savage," she is kissed not once, not twice, but nine times—including once under protest. The Universal technicolor production comes Thursday to the Liberty theater has carefree, pre-war South Sea Island atmosphere particularly inviting to romantic and secular interludes. In fact, according to Miss Montez herself, there is always a gang of romantic swains hanging about, eager for a tryst. Maria impersonates a shapely princess.

"Only one of the kisses really counts," Miss Montez informed the interviewer. The other eight, it seems, are but a warm-up sequence to sharpen the focus on kiss number nine.

LECTURE AFTER SCHOOL

MICKEY ROONEY AND DAVID HOLT have been kept after school for conduct not becoming star students. Teacher Mary Nash has a thing or two to say to the boys and they are interested, because what she says is one of those things that make "The Human Comedy" which opens Wednesday at the Maryland theater, an inspiring picture. In addition to Rooney, there are such notable performers as Frank Morgan, Fay Bainter, Marsha Hunt and five-year-old Jack Jenkins to hold your attention.

Dowall, Anne Baxter and Otto Preminger head a uniformly excellent cast. Taken sequence by sequence, there is nothing but sheer delight in the picture, whether it is Woolley's humor that is causing the chuckles or Preminger's cold-blooded viciousness that is causing the shivers. At no time is the action permitted to indicate any thing other than a truthful picture of the difficulties faced by those fleeing fallen France.

"The co-feature at the Garden is 'Little Tokyo, U. S. A.', a picture dealing with a topical subject. Preston Foster and Brenda Joyce are starred.

"Siege of Leningrad" Opens Tomorrow At Embassy

"Siege of Leningrad," stirring documentary film record of the city's seventeen month battle against the Nazis, will open here at the Embassy theater tomorrow. The film was flown from Leningrad to London, England, where a commentary in English was added by Edward Murrow, European representative of CBS. A print was then rushed to the United States, arriving shortly after, just as news was received of the lifting of the siege.

Sealed bids will be received by the County Commissioners of Allegany County, Maryland, at the office of the County Commissioners, at the Courthouse, Washington Street in the City of Cumberland, Allegany County, Maryland, for the purpose of purchasing twenty-two bonds of Forty thousand ($40,000.00) dollars aggregate par amount serial coupon bonds of said County until ten o'clock a. m. May 26th, 1943, on which said day at the hour of 10:15 o'clock a. m. sealed bids will be publicly opened by said County Commissioners of Allegany County at the office of said County Commissioners in Cumberland, Maryland, and the bond will be awarded to the highest responsible bidder or bidders therefor for cash.

Bidders are requested to indicate with their bids the rate of interest to be paid on the bonds on which their bids are based and submitted; the rate named may be a multiple of one tenth of one per cent per annum, and must not exceed three per cent (3%) per annum. The bonds to be awarded to the bidder naming the lowest rate of interest named in any legally acceptable proposal and offering to pay not less than par for the bonds. The lowest rate of interest will be determined on the basis of the lowest interest cost to the County for the bonds so to be issued from their date of issue to the last date of maturity of any of said bonds. As between bidders naming the same rate of interest the proposal of the bidder offering to pay the largest premium will be accepted. In the event two or more responsible bidders have made the same bid and such bids provide the lowest interest cost to the County as aforesaid, and if for the whole amount of said bonds so offered for sale, or if such bids taken together exceed said whole amount of said bonds, then the bonds shall be awarded in suitable proportion to such responsible bidders making the same.

The right is reserved to the County Commissioners of Allegany County to reject any and all bids.

A certified check for not less than five per cent (5%) of the aggregate par value of said bonds so offered for sale, payable to the order of the Treasurer of Allegany County, must be enclosed with each bid for said bonds, as security for compliance with said bid. No interest will be allowed on the amount so deposited and the checks of all unsuccessful bidders will be returned to them forthwith upon the award of the bonds.

This issue of bonds is authorized by Chapter 283 of the Acts of the General Assembly of Maryland passed at its January Session in the year 1943, and said bonds are also issued in accordance with a resolution of the County Commissioners of Allegany County duly adopted on the 7th day of May, 1943.

Said bonds will all be dated July 1st, 1943; they will be in denominations of One thousand ($1,000.00) dollars each and they will all bear interest at the rate fixed in the accepted bid, as hereinbefore provided, payable semi-annually on the first days of January and July in each year, in accordance with interest coupons to be attached to said bonds. Said bonds will be suitably lithographed and the coupons attached thereto will bear the facsimile signature of the President of the County Commissioners of Allegany County.

Said bonds will be numbered consecutively from Number One (1) to Number Forty (40) both numbers inclusive, and they will be divided into eight (8) series of five (5) bonds each, aggregating Five thousand ($5,000.00) dollars par amount, each series to be designated by a different series letter from the letter A to the letter H, both inclusive. Said bonds will mature and become payable in the order of their consecutive numbers and series letters, one of said series maturing in each of the years 1947 to 1956, both inclusive, on July 1st in each of such years.

Both the principal and interest of the bonds will be payable in such funds as may be on the respective date or dates of payment thereof, legal tender for the payment of debts due the United States of America at the office of the Treasurer of Allegany County, Cumberland, Allegany County, Maryland. Accrued interest between the date of the bonds and the time of payment and delivery shall be adjusted with the purchaser.

Under existing laws the bonds are exempt from all State, County and Municipal taxation in the State of Maryland.

Address all bids to the County Commissioners of Allegany County, marked Bids for Memorial Hospital Bonds, Issue of 1943.

A Talking Point Is Countered

EDUCATORS lured by the easy money aspects of the bill pending in Congress to distribute federal aid among the states for public schools are smart enough to recognize a deep-seated distrust of the people for anything looking to federal control of their schools. Consequently they are putting all possible emphasis on the fact that the bill, as now drawn, specifies that each state shall determine how the $300,000,000 authorized by it shall be used and that the federal government shall not interfere in any way with any state in the control of the school system.

On this point, the Morgantown, W. Va., Post insists that federal aid without a reasonable measure of federal control to see that the money is spent in the manner contemplated is just as dangerous and as undesirable as federal school control itself.

"Many of the states," the Post explains, "have poor schools because they are unwilling to spend enough money on them to make them better. We doubt that a single state in the whole country is so impoverished that it could not spend more money on its schools if it wanted to and if it was willing to make the necessary sacrifices."

"If the federal government is going to distribute an arbitrarily determined amount of money among the states for school aid and let it go at that, what assurances does it have that the states will use this money to supplement what they have been spending from their own revenue and will not reduce their own contributions to school costs accordingly?"

"We have seen in West Virginia what state aid has meant in limiting the scope of local control of schools. Our schools have been 'standardized' under the requirements of state aid, and all too often 'standardization' has meant a reduction in school standards rather than a raising, and this has been most conspicuously true in those communities which, by their own efforts and their own belief in good schools, had maintained high standards before the county unit system was established."

So much for the talking point about the alleged freedom of the schools under this proposed dispensation. It is difficult to perceive how federal interference could be completely divorced from this largess by the simple declaration that it cannot be suffered. The influence of money is as insidious and as dangerous here as in any other field, and this newspaper believes with the Morgantown newspaper that this measure should be resisted not merely as wrong in principle but also as inimical to the welfare of the schools in the long run. The people should play safe and keep control of their schools in their own hands without any overhanging obligations.

The Drums Are Beating Again

WHEN Franklin D. Roosevelt submitted to the "forced draft" in 1940, it was freely forecast that should he be elected, he would again be a candidate for a fourth term.

Now that time has come. The drums are beginning to beat again to win the country to the belief that we have so far deteriorated as a people that there is but one among us qualified to rule. Twice, from the White House steps, New Dealers have told the country in recent weeks that it must be Roosevelt again.

This new campaign must bring two deep emotions into the breasts of Americans:

First, they will regret to see the president, with all of his responsibilities, bringing politics into the war for the next eighteen months when victory on the foreign fields rather than at the polls is so important. They would choose to hear the president say that from now until January, 1945, he will devote his full time to winning the war and bringing our boys back home with the least loss of life; and then, with victory won or nearly won, he would retire to his own fireside, turning the White House over to the free choice of a free people.

The other emotion must be one of determination to repel the efforts of the president and the New Deal bureaucrats to perpetuate themselves in office. Americans will look at the confusion of Washington, the mangled food situation, the three million of bureaucrats wasting the substance of the nation and interfering with production on the farms and in factories. They will realize that four more years of Roosevelt means four more years of Hopkins, of Henderson, of Wallace—of Frankfurter swooping from the supreme court bench to play politics. They will fix the blame where the blame belongs.

A Moving Plan For Farmers

SOME OF US can remember when the department of Agriculture was dedicated to serving the farmer—not destroying him.

And, remembering, it is difficult to believe the concoctions the economic playboys of the department today can put together to plague the farmer.

The Washington Times-Herald turns up this latest plan to re-make America.

"It seems the Bureau of Agricultural Economics wants to make twenty per cent of the rural population of the United States move to cities after the war, whether the ruralites like it or not," it says.

"F. F. Elliot, chief agricultural economist of the department, says the plan to cut post-war rural population to eighty per cent of its present level is in line with the projected revamping of American economy and possibly that of the entire world."

"The outline fits snugly with recurrent reports that the planners have in mind creation of a hugely industrialized United States with Latin America supplying the food."

Elliot tentatively suggests that farm production be maintained "at such levels and in such patterns as to permit adequate diets adapted to the economic resources and food habits of the different income groups."

The blue-print he is drawing up would include an organized market system, controlled presumably by the government, with fixed prices for the farmer, the marketman and the consumer.

Let it be hoped that our farmer friends will not hear of Dr. Elliott and his plans to move them to the city.

Now that the New Dealers have wrapped the robes of Washington, Jefferson, and Lincoln around themselves it will be interesting to see what they will do with Franklin and his ideas about thrift.

Government propaganda used to be something we Americans read about in foreign countries. Now we have the Office of War Information and the Fourth Term.

It beats all how young people coming to maturity wonder how dad did so well without someone in Washington telling him what to do and how to do it.

The New Deal is a combination of organized minorities with a pipe-line to the taxpayer's pocketbook.

The Browser's Bookshelf

By MARSHALL MASLIN

Eve Curie's "Journey Among Warriors" (Doubleday Doran) is a tremendous book in many ways. Miss Curie is both a brave and an intelligent woman, profoundly democratic in belief and action and a discerning judge of human beings. In her "Journey" she traveled 40,000 miles through the air, over the oceans and continents and talked to the leaders of many lands and to the common people and the fighting men and if her book is an accurate picture of her mind she did not once lose faith in the final victory of the United Nations.

She left America by air in November, 1941, and was in Africa when the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor. She was in Africa when Rommel's star seemed in the ascendant and then flew to Persia, where she talked to the Shah, and then to Russia where she seems to have talked to everyone and where she was one of the few writers who were allowed to go to the front. She describes that front in this way:

"On both sides of the road there were hundreds of Germans, freshly killed, lying in the snow, mixed up with dead horses and disabled guns. . . . The faces of two young Nazis were lying on their backs were so distorted by wounds and hardened by the cold that somehow they meant nothing—revealed nothing. On this icy battlefield death was completely unreal. It seemed impossible to believe that the rigid frozen bodies had ever been alive."

"I was not moved; after seeing the burned houses in the villages and the gallows where peasants had been hanged, it was not easy to be moved by the corpses of Nazi soldiers. It seemed senseless and sad that these young and strong men should have come here to fall along a remote Russian country road, hundreds and hundreds of miles away from any territory inhabited by Germans."

Thus she shows the effect of the war on a sensitive, highly civilized woman. Sentiment does not swerve her. Nor does she conceal the fact that the Poles who were fighting in the ranks of the Russian army were not wholeheartedly at one with Russian post-war aims. Thus by implication she anticipated the recent Polish-Russian break in diplomatic relations.

From Russia Miss Curie flew to India and was there when Stafford Cripps offered post-war independence to the Indians. She talked to Gandhi for hours and argued with him to no avail. She talked to Nehru and to the Moslem leader Jinnah and came away with the conviction that a wide gulf still divides the Indian who is infatuated with non-resistance from the Westerner (and the Chinese) who will always fight for the peace he desires. . . . A sound, stimulating and encouraging book.

Boris Vovetkov's "The Last Days of Sevastopol" (Knopf) was sent to this country in cable, the first time in history a manuscript was ever delivered in that way. It is the first-hand story by a young Russian dramatist of the terrible days of the siege and fall of that Crimean stronghold. Written for the Russian people, not for Western reading, it is a graphically moving story of stubborn heroism and sacrifice. There is a fantastic, dreamlike, legendary quality about it that makes it seem timeless.

Charlotte Wolff's "The Human Hand" (Knopf) is fascinating even to a confirmed doubter like the Browser. Dr. Wolff is a trained Polish scientist who began her studies years ago in Germany and is continuing them at the University of London. To her the hand is a visible part of the brain and she believes that a reliable method of testing temperament and character may be developed through developing a psychology of the hand. Her ideas on left-handedness will annoy the left-handed.

The best sellers of the moment are Lloyd Douglas's "The Robe," Saroyan's "The Tuman Comedy," Marcia Davenport's "The Valley of Decision," Louis Bromfield's "Mrs. Parkington" and Hervey Allen's "The Forest and the Fort." Tregaskis' "Quadrangle Diary," Hargrove's "See Here, Private Hargrove" and Harry E. Posdick's "On Being a Real Person" are non-fiction leaders. That's enough from Marsh Maslin.

Germany Faces Allied Invasion At Many Points

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

When the United Nations get around to invading the Axis, the question arises:

Through what doorway will they invade?

The British Isles are obvious, as a taking-off place.

However, the democracies want to swoop down on the Axis stronghold (Germany) from a multiplicity of different directions.

Portugal is a good initiatory country. It is pro-democratic. It has some nice islands, like the Azores, from which to launch attacks against Nazi submarine operations. They furnish a convenient access for United Nations forces into the Mediterranean, and onto the northwestern African coast.

Adjoining Spain's Falangist government is pro-Axis, but the bulk of its population is radically not so, meaning pro-United Nations—because it is pro-Russian—at the first chance it gets to manifest itself. It may be a post-war problem, but not just now.

French Will Help a Lot

France depends on the strength of the Fighting French, which is sufficiently formidable to help a lot when its first maximum opportunity arrives.

As the final squeeze is put upon the Axis forces in Tunisia the encirclement of the European Axis powers is virtually completed and North Africa, no longer a battleground, becomes an immense and growing arsenal of incalculable value to the Allies.

Rommel and his boss back in Berchtesgaden know what they were doing when they put up such a desperate though hopeless battle in Tunisia.

Italy, from all indications, is prepared to rear up on its hind legs anti-Axisly at its first opportunity to overthrow.

Farther to the eastward, Turkey's attitude is anti-Axisly neutral. It should not take many developments to flip it definitely into the United Nations' column. And it is an extraordinarily little fighting country.

Balkans Rebellious

From there the situation switches into the southeastern and eastern Balkan states. Temporarily they are squelched by their neighboring Nazis, but more than ready to rebel against them the minute they see a chance.

Then to the northeastward lies rebellious Scandinavia.

Denmark is merely occupied. Norway is Quisling-ruled. Sweden already is threatening Germany with its shooting-irons, unless—

The Swedes are little but they are pretty well-heeled for a short scrap. Additionally there is that big back-country in Siberia. Its resources are tremendous, and Russia controls them. It may not do much fighting but it certainly can furnish supplies.

All this would seem to add up to plenty of trouble for the Axis—in Europe.

Oriental Prospect

Gen. Yang Chin, however, as a Chinese spokesman, says the Oriental prospect is quite a different thing.

Let the Jap win the Pacific war, he says, and the Mikado's folk will dominate their waters and adjacent lands for many many years.

Here is what Gen. Yang says.

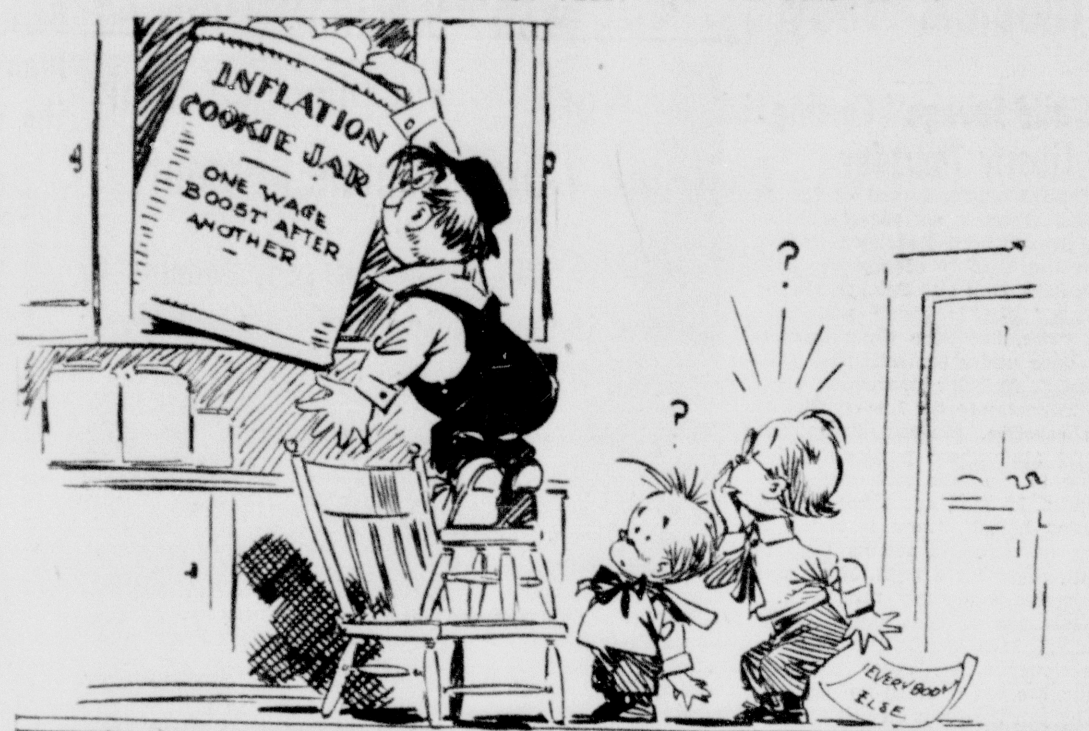

"If Japan conquers Australasia, her military cast in the Pacific

NEW COMMANDER

NAMED to succeed the late Gen. Frank M. Andrews, Lieut. Gen. Jacob L. Devers (above) becomes commander of American forces in the European theater of war. Gen. Devers recently completed a tour of that war area and is well prepared for his task.

Youth Service Substitute for Military Training Is Seen as a New Deal Goal

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, May 9. — Mr. Roosevelt said, after his southern camp inspection trip, he thought it might be a good idea for every young man to give a year of his life to the service of the state after the war.

Most of his hearers concluded that he had in mind something like the various European systems of military training.

In most democracies before the war, youths were required to serve a year in the Army. This was done, not because it improved the young man, but because the nations could not otherwise muster formidable military forces from their small populations.

Compulsory military training often has been discussed in the United States, but never attempted. We never have thought we needed such a large army.

The New Dealers around the president, however, think his terse remark was widely misunderstood. They do not believe he has any idea of forced military training, but is thinking along the same old lines he has followed on this subject in the past.

Influenced by James

The orthodox New Deal textbook on youth and youth training by the state apparently is an essay on peace by the Victorian Harvard philosopher, William James.

His idea was to inject pacifism into youth. He thought war could be ended if an outlet could be found for the pugnacious exuberance of youth and if a physical substitute in farming, for instance, could be developed in them. At least this is the way the New Deal philosophers tell it.

A minor experiment along that line was tried in 1941 under government auspices. Some Harvard and Dartmouth graduates were brought, under the leadership of Professor Rosenstock-Huessy, into experimental farming work at Camp William James, Sharon, Vt.

There was much political ado about the matter when Representative Engel (Republican-Michigan) dug out of Who's Who the fact that Professor Rosenstock-Huessy was not then (1941) an American citizen and had instituted the German labor camps from 1925 to 1933.

Dorothy Thompson, Too

The especially enthusiastic columnist, Dorothy Thompson, was identified with the experiment, which apparently is still going on in some trivial aftermath. At least, Dr. Rosenstock-Huessy is still around and interested, and some Harvard men are supposed to be working on several farms in New Hampshire or Vermont.

The experiment, however, was never satisfactory to anyone involved, and publicity about it has been written in simple words and then leave it up to the vote of the people as to whether or not the plans should be adopted. Similar elections could be held simultaneously throughout the world. If the people feel that more drastic measures with greater controlling power should be used against the Axis, let them help to do the deciding.

Extra Base Hits Again the Fashion in American Loop

Program of Four Double-headers Produces Half-Dozen Homers

By JUDSON BAY

NEW YORK, May 9 (AP)—Extra base hits became the fashion again today in the American League, and it probably was no coincidence that the hitting upsurge coincided with the debut of the lively model ballata ball in the circuit.

The program of four double-headers in the junior loop produced six home runs, only three fewer than had been hit altogether in the American League previously. Among the players who connected for grand-slamers for the first time this season were Rudy York of the Detroit Tigers, and Jeff Heath of the Cleveland Indians.

The National League began using the new ball yesterday and as a result there was some robust hitting in both leagues—three games in the American in which the winning team made sixteen hits and in the National there were fifteen, thirteen and twelve hitters.

In all sixteen games there was not a single shutout.

The Sunday slugfest also caused some to recall the president's remark of Manager Bucky Harris, of the Phillies, who yesterday observed, "some of the pitchers will have to duck fast or get hit by the drives."

In the fourth inning of the first game at Chicago today Bill Dieckman, bespectacled righthander pitcher of the White Sox, was struck on his pitching arm by a liner hit by Rip Radcliff and had to have his arm placed in splints. Although X-rays showed no fracture.

Dick Culler, the White Sox's third baseman, also was struck on his right leg by a ball hit by Don Moss in the sixth inning of the second game and had to retire.

The major leagues opened the season with a balata ball that was expected to be as lively as the one used in 1939, but when the schedule was only a few days old it was discovered that the reclaimed rubber cement in the ball was defective. This made the ball lifeless and the National League clubs returned to the 1942 model for many of their games although the American League continued to use the "clunk" ball till today.

Nats Annex Pair From Boston Sox

WASHINGTON, May 9 (AP)—The Washington Senators swept a doubleheader with the Boston Red Sox before 19,000 fans today, taking the first game, 8 to 2, after edging out the Sox 3 to 2 in the ten-inning first game.

Tex Hughson went the distance for the Sox in the first game while his starting opponent, Dutch Leonard, was removed for a pinch-hitter. Oscar Schertz, Lewis Carpenter and Wilno Candini followed Leonard in the box. Candini was credited with the victory.

George Case opened the tenth by beating out a bunt, took second on a sacrifice and scored on Bob Johnson's single to center.

Billis Clary, Senator third baseman, and Johnny Peacock, Red Sox catcher, were ejected from the game in the seventh after a tussle at the plate. The scrap started while Clary was at bat.

Alex Carrasquel was nicked for eleven hits in the second game.

Ken Chase, Boston's starting hurler, was removed in the first inning after he had given the Senators two runs on four walks and an error. Oscar Judd came to his rescue and held the Senators in check till they fell upon him and Anton Karl for five runs in the seventh inning.

Browns Win 7-5 On Three Blows After Bowling 6-5

Indians Win 13-Inning Opener on Eddie Turchin's Single

ST. LOUIS, May 9 (AP)—Collecting twenty-five hits, the Cleveland Indians spanked the Browns, 6 to 5, today in the thirteen-inning opener to a weird double bill, but dropped the seven-inning night-cap, which the Browns grabbed, 7 to 5, on three blows.

Sixteen of the Indians hits came in the first game, featured by a two-run ninth-inning rally which tied the score and Shortstop Eddie Turchin's game-winning single in the thirteenth.

The second contest featured something much less thrilling—totally ineffective pitching—as both starters retired in the first inning without themselves retiring a man. Darkness intervened after the Indians' half of the seventh.

Jeff Heath led the Cleveland attack with six hits in nine trips to the plate, including a home run, a triple and double, driving in four runs in the first and one run in the second game. The scores:

ST. LOUIS, May 9 (AP)—Cincinnati took a double pasting from the Chicago Cubs, 13 to 2 in the first game and 4 to 3 in the nightcap, before a Sunday baseball crowd of 10,714.

Five hits in the third inning of the second game gave the Cubs three runs and sent Starting Pitcher Bucky Walters to the showers. They added another run in the sixth.

In the sixth, a double by Gee Walker, a single by Eric Tipton, a crumble by Stan Hack of Estel Crabtree's grounder, and a single by Stephen Mesner were enough to score three runs for Cincinnati and chase Bill Lee from the mound.

Paul Derringer made his debut at Crosley field in a Cub uniform and coasted to an easy victory in the first game. While his mates were collecting thirteen runs on fifteen hits, Paul meted out eleven well-spaced hits to the Reds.

First Sacker Frank McCormick smashed a home run in the sixth inning for the first Red score and singled in the eighth to score Max Marshall, who had tripped.

General Manager A. J. Boyle predicted a capacity crowd for the opening day with reports coming in from Manager H. N. Bradley that the forty-five rooms in the town's only hotel had been booked for two months.

The first race will start at 1:15 p. m. (EWT) having been moved up to meet regular train and bus schedules coming into this Eastern Panhandle racing center.

Pitcher Bill Dietrich Injured by Line Drive

CHICAGO, May 9 (AP)—Bill Dietrich, veteran White Sox right-hander, was painfully injured when a line drive off Rip Radcliff's bat came off his right forearm in the fourth inning of today's game with Detroit. The Sox had just given him a 3-0 lead. He was replaced by Rookie Gordon Maltzberger. Dietrich was taken to Mercy hospital.

Dodgers Bow 2-1 After Defeating Braves in Tenth

"Bobo" Newsom, of Brooklyn, and Jim Tobin Register Victories

BOSTON, May 9 (AP)—The Boston Braves broke even with the Brooklyn Dodgers before 24,000 today, dropping a heartbreaking 5-4 verdict in the tenth inning of the opener before Jim Tobin's four-hit hurling enabled them to overcome Whit Wyatt's usual mastery, 2-1, in the nightcap.

Usually light-hitting "Whitey" Weitemann belted the decisive blow in the second game after Phil Masi had singled with one away in the ninth. Another out kept Masi anchored at first and then Weitemann lashed out a double which enabled the Boston catcher to go all the way to the plate and score the winning run in a close decision.

Previously the Dodgers had opened the scoring in the fourth when Dixie Walker drew a pass, went to second on Dolph Camilli's hit and scored on a Paul Waner single. Chet Ross evened matters in the same inning by blasting a homer over the left field wall.

In the opening game the Dodgers also scored first but the Braves went ahead in the fifth only to have Brooklyn deadlock the count in the sixth. The teams were scoreless until the tenth, which Augie Galan opened with a double. He moved to third on Arky Vaughn's infield single and scored the winning run on Walker's long fly.

"Bobo" Newsom, who pitched the last two innings, got credit for the victory. The scores:

ST. LOUIS, May 9 (AP)—Cincinnati took a double pasting from the Chicago Cubs, 13 to 2 in the first game and 4 to 3 in the nightcap, before a Sunday baseball crowd of 10,714.

Five hits in the third inning of the second game gave the Cubs three runs and sent Starting Pitcher Bucky Walters to the showers. They added another run in the sixth.

In the sixth, a double by Gee Walker, a single by Eric Tipton, a crumble by Stan Hack of Estel Crabtree's grounder, and a single by Stephen Mesner were enough to score three runs for Cincinnati and chase Bill Lee from the mound.

Paul Derringer made his debut at Crosley field in a Cub uniform and coasted to an easy victory in the first game. While his mates were collecting thirteen runs on fifteen hits, Paul meted out eleven well-spaced hits to the Reds.

First Sacker Frank McCormick smashed a home run in the sixth inning for the first Red score and singled in the eighth to score Max Marshall, who had tripped.

General Manager A. J. Boyle predicted a capacity crowd for the opening day with reports coming in from Manager H. N. Bradley that the forty-five rooms in the town's only hotel had been booked for two months.

The first race will start at 1:15 p. m. (EWT) having been moved up to meet regular train and bus schedules coming into this Eastern Panhandle racing center.

Pitcher Bill Dietrich Injured by Line Drive

CHICAGO, May 9 (AP)—Bill Dietrich, veteran White Sox right-hander, was painfully injured when a line drive off Rip Radcliff's bat came off his right forearm in the fourth inning of today's game with Detroit. The Sox had just given him a 3-0 lead. He was replaced by Rookie Gordon Maltzberger. Dietrich was taken to Mercy hospital.

Count, Derby and Preakness Winner, Too Much for Other Three-Year-Olds

By SID FEDER

NEW YORK, May 9 (AP)—Count Fleet has completed his "spring training" without even getting his hair mussed, and unless a few of the fellows with sore legs come back in a hurry, you might as well give the Count the pennant right now and rent the rest of them out for milk-wagon hauling and such.

As a matter of fact, in waiting in with $100,000 worth of victories in the Kentucky derby and Preakness, the brown bolt of lightning from Chicago not only proved conclusively that the current active set of three-year-old haystokers are about as "hot" as last night's mashed potatoes, but also that someone's going to get hurt if they try to keep on chasing him.

Count "Too Much Horse" Johnny Adams, the pudgy little Kansan who has twice been the nation's jockey champion, summed that part of it up for all of them after steering Blue Swords to second place (as usual) in yesterday's Preakness, eight lengths back of the Count.

"The Count's just too much horse," Jumping Johnny admitted as he climbed down wearily. "And what's more, if Blue Swords is kept chasing Count Fleet much more, he might break down. No horse can stand that."

Some of the older hands around the backstretch recalled that something similar happened to Pom-pon when he did the same thing running after War Admiral back in 1937. It finally proved too for him, and he was through for keeps.

The Preakness marked the sixth time in two seasons that Blue Swords has eaten the Count's dust, and if the Akron ambler isn't convinced by now, then you might call him a stubborn young man. Certainly, the best that can be said for him is that he's top man among all the others who have taken a shot at the Hertz hurricane up to now this spring.

Shoo-in For Belmont

At this writing, Count Fleet might just as well be conceded the three-year-old "Pennant." At any rate, the only argument he can still get for the flag won't come until later in the summer, when the gallopers like Ocean Wave, Occupation, Devil's Thumb, Chop Chop and possibly Seven Hearts start throwing their high hard ones again. Some of these ranked right up close to the Count at the head of last year's juvenile parade, but this spring they've run into more leg trouble than a chorus line with housemaids' knee.

It is doubtful if any of 'em will be back in time for the Belmont stakes June 5, so the Count looks like a shoo-in for the triple crown now, because they appear to be the only gee-gees with any kind of a chance against him.

COLUMBUS, O., Lays Claim as Nation's No. 1 Sports Town

Hand of Five Aces Includes Hamilton, Brown and Southworth

By FRITZ HOWELL

AMERICA discovered Columbus in 1492!

The Buckeye capital, long known as the country's "screwiest" football town (Ohio State averages 55,000 fans per game, no matter how the team is faring) hit the athletic jackpot the last twelve months.

The town's three sports clubs, all made up of former athletes still so phonomores at heart, filed a claim today for "Columbus—the nation's No. 1 sports town."

Confining their nominees to sports executives, the club prexies laid down a hand of five aces, and challenged one and all to top it.

Hamilton is No. 1.

The cards: Commander Tom Hamilton, USN, Columbus resident, named "football's man of the year" for his naval air corps athletic program;

Paul E. Brown, coach of Ohio State's Big Ten and national champion grid team, and football's "No. 2 man of the year";

Billy Southworth, Columbus resident, voted the No. 1 manager in the major leagues after his St. Louis Cards won the National League pennant and then wrecked the Yankees in the World Series;

Eddie Dyer, named the No. 1 minor league skipper after his American Association Columbus Red Birds captured the junior world series; and Mike Peppi, who popped up as the country's top-flight tank coach when his Ohio State swimming team became the first in history to sweep through the Big Ten, National Collegiate, and A. A. U. indoor and outdoor championships.

Each Awarded Trophy

"That," the Buckeye boys brag, "gives Columbus the two top men in baseball, the two top men in football, and the head man in swimming. Just try to find us another town with such a record."

So proud were the city council and the home town folks of their five aces that they gave a civic banquet for them the other night, awarding trophies to each. Practically everyone in town made a speech.

It looks as if the boys filed their "No. 1 sports town" just in time, for prospects are not so rosy for coming campaigns. The Cardinals and the Columbus Red Birds are still up there, but Commander Hamilton is believed to be on sea duty, and Brown and Peppi have lost practically all their talent to the armed services.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By SHEPARD BARCLAY
"The Authority on Authorities"

NEW LAWS ARE CLEARER

MUCH GREATER clarity and definiteness have been provided in the new Laws of Contract Bridge on the question of condoning an "improper call" of any kind during the auction. Such a call is deemed to be condoned under any of the following circumstances:

1. If the opponent to the left of the offender announces he is condoning it, before he makes a call himself.
2. If the opponent to the left calls, either deliberately or inadvertently, before all questions in regard to rectification and penalty enforcement are normally settled before he calls, have been determined.
3. If the opponent at the right of the offender, who has no legal right to do so, should condone the irregularity, should endeavor to enforce or select a penalty, or offers advice regarding it. Right-hand opponents' legal rights after an irregularity are limited to his drawing attention to the offense, giving or obtaining the law covering it and asking his partner whether or not he knows his rights.

There is a much better balance, than in the old Laws, in the provisions penalizing a pass out of turn. When the out-of-turn pass (not condoned) is made before the opening bid, it is canceled and the offender must pass when next it is his turn to call. After the opening bid, a pass (not condoned) made when it is the turn of the opponent at the passer's right is penalized the same as a pass before the opening bid, a pass (not condoned) when it is the turn of the passer's partner is canceled, and both members of the offending side must pass thereafter whenever it is their turn.

An opening bid out of turn (not condoned) when it is the turn of the opponent at the bidder's right, is canceled, and the offender's partner must pass on his next turn: when it is the turn of the offender's partner, or of the opponent at the left of the offender, it is canceled, and the offender's partner must pass whenever it is his turn to call.

Child Who Can Bathe Himself Can Clean Tub

Dr. Myers Urges Parents To Teach Their Youngsters Cleanliness

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph. D.

When we do for a child what he can easily do for himself we rob him of self-reliance and responsibility, we hinder his best development in character and citizenship.

Ever so many children, probably most children, are bathed by their mothers long past the time when they could bathe themselves. Many other children who bathe themselves don't clean the bathtub after their bath. I wonder what percentage of high school boys leave the bathtub with the telltale water lines. I shall guess that eighty percent do. What's your guess? Bring up this matter for conversation at your next bridge party, Ladies Aid or Red Cross Class.

Next time I address a group of young husbands I hope to bring this matter up. Tell your husband not to read this article; then, perhaps he will. You young wives begin housekeeping would be wise if you would train your husband to scrub the bathtub.

Be sure to have at hand the necessary cleaning materials and, after he has done a good cleaning job, to praise him for his achievement and thoughtfulness. Praising him for his nice smooth face and neat dress and person is a good way to cultivate these desirable practices in him too.

It should be a very simple matter for a child to learn to clean the bathtub after him, if he observed that his father always leaves the tub immaculate after using it.

Check Tub after Bath

Let the mother be exacting of the child regarding the bathtub. She should for a sufficient period, examine it after he has used it and never let him escape cleaning it. Indeed, it is easier for her to check on the tub's cleanliness than on that of the child. I hope she does not scold and nag. Instead, I hope she makes it very clear to him what is to be done and, if necessary, will set an effective penalty in order to make sure it will be done.

If, however, the youngster at fourteen or eighteen has never cleaned his own tub, he may need somewhat different treatment to assure good results. And of all things, for a girl 10 or 14 not to clean her own tub is to grow up dangerously slovenly.

As soon as the child is able to bathe himself he is able to clean the tub. For several months up until then the mother might skillfully induce the youngster to help her clean it following his bath.

There is considerable needless irritation in many homes getting the runabout to bathe at regular intervals. Don't trust to his wishes in the matter. Announce to him a schedule indicating the hour it shall be done and the tub cleaned. If it is not required daily, post on the calendar the inescapable bath days. Proceed in like manner in regard to his changing to fresh stockings, underwear and other garments. Don't argue about such matters and avoid the words ought and should in relation to them. Setting for him good standards in self-reliance and responsibility for their attainment.

Solving Parent Problems
Q. Should the child of four or five eat with the family?

A. Yes; in case they can treat him as he should be treated, no one talking of his eating or his manners, nor stimulating him to talk too much. Just being in the family circle and listening and sharing, at times in the conversation, has great educational value to the young child.

Approximately three-fourths of all life insurance funds invested in the first two months of this year went into United States or Canadian government bonds, as direct financing aid to the war effort.
